Stag night will be held Thursday night, October 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. V

HI, MOM—WE WIN!—Sixteen-year-old James H. Colton, Jr., of Sutton, Mass., has a joyful grin as he makes one of the most important entries in his life. He's calling his mother on a telephone system he built himself. It won him the Worcester Polytechnic Institute's "Kankoe Ingenuity" scholarship for 1952 and a free college education. He will major in electronics.

"GUNNING" FOR IKE—The occupants of this front-line bunker in Korea, have no doubt as to who they'll cast their absentee ballots for in the forthcoming presidential election. In the meantime, Marine Leonard W. Hutton, S. D., cleans his carbine in preparation for voting clearly disapproval of any enemy troops he may encounter.

ROYAL PLUMAGE FOR A DAY—The coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, for whom the clothing is made, is the highlight of the day. The coronation robes are made of gold and silver, and are worn by the queen and her attendants. The coronation is a ceremony of great importance, and is held in the presence of many guests.

TROOPS TRAIN IN "EUROPEAN" VILLAGE—Members of C Company of the Third Infantry Regiment conduct "mop-up" operations in the replica of a European village at Camp A. P. Hill, Va. The 20-building village has been constructed to acquaint troops with the architectural peculiarities that they might encounter should it ever become necessary to fight abroad.

NEW WINGS FOR JAPAN—The first Japanese airplane to be manufactured since the end of World War II is inspected by officials and visitors at the Techkawa airplane plant in Tokyo. The plane, a two-place, open-cockpit, secondary-training craft, has a 130-horsepower engine and can remain aloft for five hours. It has been presented to a Tokyo newspaper, and will be used for training schoolboys who are air-minded, but cannot afford flying instruction.

HI, MOM—WE WIN!—Sixteen-year-old James H. Colton, Jr., of Sutton, Mass., has a joyful grin as he makes one of the most important entries in his life. He's calling his mother on a telephone system he built himself. It won him the Worcester Polytechnic Institute's "Kankoe Ingenuity" scholarship for 1952 and a free college education. He will major in electronics.

"GUNNING" FOR IKE—The occupants of this front-line bunker in Korea, have no doubt as to who they'll cast their absentee ballots for in the forthcoming presidential election. In the meantime, Marine Leonard W. Hutton, S. D., cleans his carbine in preparation for voting clearly disapproval of any enemy troops he may encounter.

ROYAL PLUMAGE FOR A DAY—The coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, for whom this presents a clothing problem in England's royalty. Under austere English economy, traditional velvet-and-ermine coronation robes at hundreds of pounds apiece, are almost out of the question. Companies which specialize in renting royal costumes are expecting a bumper business. At left is seen a robe suitable for wear by a Viscountess, and at right what the well-dressed Viscount may hire for the ceremony.

TROOPS TRAIN IN "EUROPEAN" VILLAGE—Members of C Company of the Third Infantry Regiment conduct "mop-up" operations in the replica of a European village at Camp A. P. Hill, Va. The 20-building village has been constructed to acquaint troops with the architectural peculiarities that they might encounter should it ever become necessary to fight abroad.

NEW WINGS FOR JAPAN—The first Japanese airplane to be manufactured since the end of World War II is inspected by officials and visitors at the Techkawa airplane plant in Tokyo. The plane, a two-place, open-cockpit, secondary-training craft, has a 130-horsepower engine and can remain aloft for five hours. ## DOROTHY DIX

Vacation vs. Romance

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going with a girl for six years. I have asked her several times if she would marry me but she keeps saying she doesn't want to get married for another two years. She has a very good job and claims she can't leave it. If you are ever asked for an engagement ring, what do I think I should wait for the next two years to wait?

Answer: Your young lady says less than in love with you. Perhaps her ardent husband survived a six-year friendship. Again, perhaps the difference in your ages has made you more serious minded than she is

Gibson, Miss Mary Gaines, and Billy Jack O'Rourke had a double wedding Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Rourke of this city are the parents of Miss O'Rourke and Mr. O'Rourke. Mr. O'Rourke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Gibson also of this city, and Miss Gaines is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaines of Bloomfield, New Jersey.

Miss O'Rourke was attired in a floor-length dress of blue net over tulle, she carried a bouquet of blue carnations and her shoulder length veil fell from a halo of blue carnations.

Miss Gaines chose a floor-length dress of rose net over tulle and carried a bouquet of rose carnations. Her shoulder length veil fell from a halo of rose carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Checkered Gate with the immediate families and close friends attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will be at home in Joplin, Missouri, and Mr. and Mrs. O'Rourke will be at home in Houston, Texas.

Miss Nilla Dean Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Greene became the bride of Sgt. Reese Miller on October 19 at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, Hope, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Miller, Sr. are the bridegroom's parents. Reverend V. D. Keely officiated at the double ring ceremony before a background of jade palms, standards of bronze chrysanthemums, and branched candelabras. Nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist.

Candlelighters were Mrs. John Busell and Miss Jody Corrigan. They were attired in tulle dresses of champagne and brown respectively. They were bridesmaids of bronze chrysanthemums and matching flowers in their hair.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Greene, wore a burnt-sugar street length tulle dress with a very full accented pleated skirt. The bodice was fashioned with a high neck with a small false bow on each side and bracelet length sleeves. Her bridal hat was of pale blue velvet studded with aged pearls and a nose-length veil. She wore matching pale blue gloves and brown leather pumps. She carried a white orchid showerer with white satin ribbon and tube roses on a white Bible.

Mrs. Bell Shadoff served as matron of honor. She was attired in a maroon dress fashioned with a full skirt. Her bouquet was of orchid chrysanthemums with blue satin leaves.

Miss Nancy Camp, maid of honor, was dressed in a steel gray tulle two-piece dress. Her bouquet was of orchid chrysanthemums with purple satin leaves.

L. J. Miller, Jr. served his bride, Mrs. Greene, with a black and white dress with a black and white sash. He wore a white shirt with a black bow tie and a black vest.

Mrs. Greene chose a black dress with a white sash and a white veil. She wore a white shirt with a black bow tie and a black vest.

The couple received the guests in the vestibule of the church. Mr. Harold Higginson, Jr. presided at the guest book.

For travel Mrs. Miller chose a dark brown wool suit with brown matching accessories. She pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in San Antonio, several years.

Vacation vs. Romance

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going with a girl for six years. I have asked her several times if she would marry me but she keeps saying she doesn't want to get married for another two years. She has a very good job and claims she can't leave it. I am 26 and she is 21. I offered her an engagement ring, but she thought I was kidding her. I still insist she wants to wait at least two years. Even though she doesn't guarantee that her attitude will change. She does not seem as anxious to have me as I am. I am wondering if her love isn't fading some. What do you think I should wait for the next two years to pass?

Answer: Your young lady gives every indication of being somewhat less than in love with you. Perhaps her ardor hasn't survived a six-year friendship. Again, perhaps the difference in your ages has made you more serious minded than she is. After all, when you began to get together, she was only 15—scarcely an age to form a permanent attachment while you were 20 and capable of having a more fixed purpose. It may be that you are missing the girl a bit, even now I suggest that for a time—but not two years—you go along with her. Keep her from the ring and don't treat her for dates. In fact, don't even ask as frequently as you have. If that arrangement satisfies her, I'm afraid you are in for a bad period of readjustment. She may, however, need just such neglect to awaken her to the fact that she really loves you. Lots of luck!

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl of 14. Would it be proper for me to wear a boy of 10 or 20 who

Answer: It strikes me, first of all, that you overcome heartbreak with amazing alacrity. Three months ago you were a despondent, forsaken wife, now you are in the throes of a new romance.

For your own protection, I certainly think you should take your husband back. He has had his lesson, now it's time for yours. Your love is won too easily and your response emotions can easily lead to trouble. Set up a new home with your family and try a little harder to make it a success.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 16 years old, and have been in love with the most wonderful boy since I was 15. On my 16th birthday he gave me an engagement ring. We had our spats, and usually made up, but three months before we were to be married, we broke up for good. Now he is engaged to someone else. Recently I met him at a party. He was most attentive and danced with me all evening. The break-up, I may add, was my fault.

Answer: If you were to blame for the parting, you should have made some effort to patch things up before this. However, it is not too late yet, if the boy still loves you, as you suspect. Put your pride in your pocket. Get in touch with him, tell him that you realize you were at fault. Ask him frankly if he really loves his fiancée. If the answer is "yes," there's nothing you can do. He has added to his presidential nominee, if he decides not to vote for the Democratic candidate.

He said he didn't agree with Stevenson on "some of his policies." Including the idiots oil question, civil rights and any of the Truman deals I have taught from the beginning."

HELENA — Former Gov. Ben Loney says he wants to find out if it is Stevenson or Truman who is running for the Democratic ticket before he decides how to cast his vote for President, Nov. 4.

The former national chairman of the States Rights Party said he probably will support the Democrats if he believes Gov. Stevenson is the Democratic candidate.

Loney, who said he thought the Republican ticket might win in several southern states, added that he is undecided as to whether to vote for Gen. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, if he decides not to vote for the Democratic candidate.
